

FIXED INCOME

Forward Rates and CMO Portfolio Management

January 1, 1999

Chapter in Advances in the Valuation and Management of Mortgage-Backed Securities (Wiley, 1999)

Forward rates, because of their perceived role in forecasting future interest rates, occupy a special place in fixed-income analysis. This chapter focuses on how forward rates are used in analyzing CMOs as well as when this usage is warranted and when it is misguided.

An understanding of forward rate is important for valuing fixed-income securities in general, and specifically for valuing CMOs, but several misconceptions about the relationships have become entrenched. It is often said that OAS models are biased because they assume forward rates as a base case. While the models do make extensive use of forward rates, they make no assumptions about the investor's true expectations for future rates.

The methodology employed by OAS models is consistent with any expectations about the degree of forward rates' predictive power, and consistent with securities such as mortgages that have the possibility of prepayment. A more valid criticism of OAS modeling is that OAS models assume that prepayments are perfectly predictable, given current and past interest rates.

It is often said that because forward rates are unlikely to be realized, one should purchase more bullet securities that outperform if the curve stays steep. This is a valid strategy for an overall portfolio structure, but it doesn't help in the case of individual security selection. Individual security selection should be approached with consideration of the relative richness and cheapness of each possible purchase.

This document is not intended to, and does not relate specifically to any investment strategy or product that AQR offers. It is being provided merely to provide a framework to assist in the implementation of an investor's own analysis and an investor's own view on the topic discussed herein.

This document has been provided to you solely for information purposes and does not constitute an offer or solicitation of an offer or any advice or recommendation to purchase any securities or other financial instruments and may not be construed as such. The factual information set forth herein has been obtained or derived from sources believed by the author and AQR Capital Management, LLC ("AQR") to be reliable but it is not necessarily all-inclusive and is not guaranteed as to its accuracy and is not to be regarded as a representation or warranty, express or implied, as to the information's accuracy or completeness, nor should the attached information serve as the basis of any investment decision. This document is not to be reproduced or redistributed to any other person. The information set forth herein has been provided to you as secondary information and should not be the primary source for any investment or allocation decision. Past performance is not a guarantee of future performance. Diversification does not eliminate the risk of experiencing investment losses.

This material is not research and should not be treated as research. This paper does not represent valuation judgments with respect to any financial instrument, issuer, security or sector that may be described or referenced herein and does not represent a formal or official view of AQR. The views expressed reflect the current views as of the date hereof and neither the author nor AQR undertakes to advise you of any changes in the views expressed herein.

The information contained herein is only as current as of the date indicated, and may be superseded by subsequent market events or for other reasons. Charts and graphs provided herein are for illustrative purposes only. The information in this presentation has been developed internally and/or obtained from sources believed to be reliable; however, neither AQR nor the author guarantees the accuracy, adequacy or completeness of such information. Nothing contained herein constitutes investment, legal, tax or other advice nor is it to be relied on in making an investment or other decision. There can be no assurance that an investment strategy will be successful. Historic market trends are not reliable indicators of actual future market behavior or future performance of any particular investment which may differ materially, and should not be relied upon as such. Diversification does not eliminate the risk of experiencing investment losses.

The information in this paper may contain projections or other forward-looking statements regarding future events, targets, forecasts or expectations regarding the strategies described herein, and is only current as of the date indicated. There is no assurance that such events or targets will be achieved, and may be significantly different from that shown here. The information in this document, including statements concerning financial market trends, is based on current market conditions, which will fluctuate and may be superseded by subsequent market events or for other reasons.